

Martin Klein

Martin Klein is a scientist in the Research Library at the Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL) where he conducts research and develops software in the realm of web-based scholarly communication, web archiving, and digital libraries. Prior to his tenure at LANL Martin was a scientist at UCLA's Research Library and a postdoctoral scholar at LANL. His research focus includes scholarly communication, digital preservation, the temporal aspect of web resources, and information retrieval and extraction. He received his Diploma in Computer Science from the University of Applied Sciences Berlin (2002) and his Ph.D. in Computer Science from Old Dominion University (2011).